Research Study
Help us understand how your brain works!

Who’s eligible?
- Persons aged 12-17
- Other exclusions may apply

What’s involved?
- Questionnaires
- Computer games
- Eye movement testing
- MRI scan

The Laboratory of Neurocognitive Development at the University of Pittsburgh is doing a research study on how the brain develops. We are looking for volunteers who have not had a brain injury or psychiatric disorder.

Participants will be compensated for completing the study.

This study is done in two sessions, taking about 3 hours each. Parking is provided.

Laboratory of Neurocognitive Development
lunalncd@gmail.com - 412-383-8180 - www.lncd.pitt.edu