Researchers at University of Pittsburgh, Medical Center (UPMC) are interested in studying the microbiome and risk for depression in the Microbiome, Stress and Reward Study (MSR).

To qualify for this research study, your child must be 9-15 years old with no serious medical issues and fit into one of the following categories:

1) Child with a history of depression, OR
2) Biological parent with a history of depression, OR
3) Child with no history of depression AND no parent history of any major mental illness.

Participation involves both you and your child completing lab and psychiatric assessments and questionnaires. Your child will also complete computer tasks during their study visit while we measure his/her brain and heart activity.

You and your child will be compensated for your time.

If interested and want to find out more, please contact Lorraine Scott to ask about the MSR Study:
412-383-8030 or yebs@pitt.edu