Parents of Infants,
Do you or your partner have Attention-Deficit Hyperactivity Disorder (ADHD)?

The Pittsburgh ADHD Risk in Infancy Study (PARIS) at the University of Pittsburgh and Carnegie Mellon University is now recruiting participants.

You may be eligible for this research study if:

- You or your partner have ADHD
- You have an infant 4-10 months old
- Your infant was born healthy
- You would be willing to bring your infant to Carnegie Mellon University for a brief assessment of attention.

Families will be compensated up to $150 for study participation.

Please text “MORE INFO” to 412-420-8309 or E-mail PARISstudy@upmc.edu for more information.