ARE YOU A TEEN GIRL WHO IS 14 TO 18 YEARS OLD?

Are you interested in participating in a research study about girls’ relationships, stress, emotions, and mood?

Researchers at the University of Pittsburgh are currently looking for adolescent girls to participate in a research study to learn about how girls’ mood and emotions might be related to stress and relationships in their life.

Participation involves:
• A few visits to our lab over the course of one year;
• An MRI scan to measure brain activity;
• Interviews, questionnaires, and activities assessing behaviors, feelings, and stress.

Compensation will be provided.
